Weinbeschreibung

Kéknyelű is a special and characteristic Hungarian white wine grape variety grown only in the volcanic soils of Badacsony Wine Region. It gives fragrant, juicy and firm wine with delicate acidity. The characteristic minerality of the area is perceptible. The wine is pleasant at young age but it produces the real experience with uniquely harmonic acids after more years of aging.

Weingutbeschreibung

Lying on the southern slopes of the Őrsi hill, the Csendes Dűlő Wine Estate is owned by our family for 45 years. With its unique panorama on three hectares grow the luscious Olaszrizling (Welschriesling), the honey-scented Hárslevelű, the fiery Szürkebarát (Pinot gris) as well as the "noble wine, or the nectar of nobles" the curio Kéknyelű (Blaustengler), a special and characteristic Hungarian vine variety grown only in the Badacsony Wine Region. The bed of volcanic rocks characteristic of this wine region endows the wines with intensive ac ...
